I just passed my National Home Inspection exam this week on the first try. I studied this book for months. Out of the 1,200+ questions in this book, I saw no more than 5 questions on the exam (out of 200) that came exactly from this book. Looking back, the knowledge I gained was helpful, but don't be deluded into thinking you will see many of the exact questions in this book on the National Exam. Also, even though this book has been out of print for a while, I was able to obtain a new copy. The pages fell off the binding with a few days. I returned it and got another new one, and the same problem happened in a couple of days. It wasn't that big of a deal since I made copies of the the answers and then put the pages in two binders: one for questions and one for answers. It is easier to do this than flipping back and forth for every question. You may want to expect the pages to fall out for you too. Also, the price is outrageous, but it costs about $200 to take the exam and most people don't pass the first time, so I guess it's worth it if the book can help you pass the first time.

If you plan on taking the exam for your home inspectors license, this book is mandatory. Hands down, the school and state exams are based on this book. 80% - 90% of the school final exam, as well as chapter final questions are in this book. It seems old and outdated, but this is the one you need. Period.

It seems helpful in sample questions and determining where or what you may need to study more! You will still need to study or prepare for the test but this is worth the money as is great work!
